Colonel Cox of the Salvation Army gave a most interesting talk on some of the work that is being done by the army, not only in Hawaii but in other parts of the world. In telling of some of her own experiences she said that she fully believed that the hardest hearts in the world are those of the ultra poor. These people feel that they have been deserted by God and man and it is very hard to reach them. She, with some of her co-workers; felt at one time that they were doing come good work. A book came under their observation, however, called "How the Other Half Lives," by Sims. Mer reading this they knew that they had not come into the lives of the poorest of the people. They discarded their uniforms, donned old gingham frecks. aprons and shawls, then with their implements of war, a bucket of water and a scrubbing brush, set out to find the poorest of the inhabitants of the slume of London. Their efforts were not rewarded immediately, but after they had worked in this way for some March 1st being the fourth anniver. " Wednesday, Pacific Heights; first !! five ladies were invited to meet Mrz. time they were in a measure successful. One of the slogans of the Salvation Army that is one of the slogans that has been given it by the lower Mr. and Mrs. Austin Nichols of Bos- classes that have come under its Honofulu The Social Store ton, and Mrs. Maurice Kittredge of score of work is "Soap, Soun and Sai-Berkeley are here for several weeks' vation." Many men who have been stay and are located in one of the taken into the army have said that Moana cottages. They expect to visit they were always given food before the volcano before returning to the religion. Colonel Cox said that the Coast and will spend some time visit. salvationists do not consider that they ing in Hilo, where Mr. Kittredge and have been successful in their work if his twin sister, Mrs. Nichols, used to they have failed in bringing those who live when they were children. They come to them to Christ. Even if a are son and daughter of the date Dr. man has been reformed and has been Kittredge, well known to many island set up in business, if he has not propeople, and are meeting many old claimed the Christ, the workers in the Salvation Army feel that there is something amiss.

Everyone will acknowledge that 'he Salvation Army is doing a great work
